

The Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation, a research division of Carnegie Mellon University, specializes in the history of botany and all aspects of plant science and serves the international scientific community through research and documentation. To this end, the Institute acquires and maintains authoritative collections of books, plant images, manuscripts, portraits and data files, and provides publications and other modes of information service. The Institute meets the reference needs of botanists, biologists, historians, conservationists, librarians, bibliographers and the public at large, especially those concerned with any aspect of the North American flora.

Hunt Institute was dedicated in 1961 as the Rachel McMasters Miller Hunt Botanical Library, an international center for bibliographical research and service in the interests of botany and horticulture, as well as a center for the study of all aspects of the history of the plant sciences. By 1971 the Library's activities had so diversified that the name was changed to Hunt Institute for Botanical Documentation. Growth in collections and research projects led to the establishment of four programmatic departments: Archives, Art, Bibliography and the Library. The current collections include approximately 24,000+ portraits; 200+ archival collections; 30,957 watercolors, drawings and prints; 243,000+ data files; and 30,665 book and serial titles. The Archives specializes in biographical information about, and portraits of, scientists, illustrators and all others in the plant sciences and houses over 200 collections of correspondence, field notes, manuscripts and other writings. Including artworks dating from the Renaissance, the Art Department's collection now focuses on contemporary botanical art and illustration, where the coverage is unmatched. The Art Department organizes and stages exhibitions, including the triennial International Exhibition of Botanical Art & Illustration. The Bibliography Department maintains comprehensive data files on the history and bibliography of botanical literature. Known for its collection of historical works on botany dating from the late 1400s to the present, the Library's collection focuses on the development of botany as a science and also includes herbals (eight are incunabula), gardening manuals and florilegia, many of them pre-Linnaean. Modern taxonomic monographs, floristic works and serials as well as selected works in medical botany, economic botany, landscape architecture and a number of other plant-related topics are also represented.

Some of the pre-1840 botanical publications in our Library are housed in the reading room, the site for special lectures and group tours.

Two exhibitions a year are displayed in the gallery and often contain materials from our collections. The triennial International Exhibition of Botanical Art & Illustration focuses on contemporary art.

Hunt Institute 2018 Associates Program

Hunt Institute Associates program

We invite those individuals who share the Institute's interests, whether professionally or avocationally, to participate in the Hunt Institute Associates program.

Regular Associates ($40) receive acknowledgment in the Bulletin and the following benefits:

- An email announcement when the Bulletin PDF is available on our Web site
- Either the issue of Huntia, the Institute's journal of botanical history, or the art exhibition catalogue(s) published during the year of membership (another publication will be substituted if item of choice is not published during the membership year)
- Discounts on all Institute (sole imprint) publications and on some works published under joint imprint: 25% discount on a purchase of up to 4 publications and 40% discount on purchase of 5 or more publications
- A 25% discount on stationery items reproduced from works in the Institute's collections
- Announcements about upcoming exhibitions
- Preferential eligibility for sale of duplicate books and unaccessioned artworks
- Preferential query service
- A 25% discount on PDFs for research purposes
- Behind-the-scenes tours by appointment

Patron Associates ($100), Sustaining Associates ($500) and Benefactor Associates ($1000) receive the above benefits plus:

- Both Huntia and the art exhibition catalogue(s) published during the year of membership
- Tax deductions ($40 for Patron, $440 for Sustaining, and $940 for Benefactor)

If you would like to support the Institute's mission and programs in more specific ways, then please consider our Sponsorship program. Monetary gifts can be directed to our endowment or to other established funds, such as the Anne Ophelia Todd Dowden Art Acquisition Fund, or the Ronald L. Stuckey Endowment for the Preservation of Botanical History. For material or memorial gifts, please consult with our curators. For more information about the Sponsorship program, contact the Institute.
